

Announcement

Scholarships for Graduate Students at the Program in Population and Sexual and Reproductive Health (International Program) Institute for Population and Social Research, Mahidol University

The M.A. Program in Population and Sexual and Reproductive Health at the Institute for Population and Social Research (IPSR), Mahidol University, strives to build networks with national and international organizations, particularly those in ASEAN countries. To reach this goal, the program promotes capacity building in education for personnel, partner organizations and the public, including Thais and other nationals.

Institute for Population and Social Research, therefore, adopts the resolution of the Institutional Board of Committee Meeting No. 430 (3/2018) dated March 30, 2018, that income be allocated for the provision of scholarships for students with outstanding academic performance and an interest in continuing their studies to earn their degree. Details of these scholarships are as follows:

1. Partial scholarship

- 1.1 Half of tuition fees* and health insurance costs during the study period of no more than one year.

Note: * Tuition fees (totally USD 8,000 for international students) should cover the required minimum number of courses and credits of the Program (including thesis fee)

2. Eligibility requirement

- 2.1 When admitted to the Program, the scholarship applicant is required to be responsible for USD $4,000 for Module 1 and 2 fees of the program.
- 2.2 The applicant is required to achieve a GPA of at least 3.5 for Module 1.
- 2.3 The final decision on the scholarship is subject to the evaluation of the Program Committee after the applicant completes Module 1.

3. Benefits and requirement of the scholarship

- 3.1 If the evaluation is favorable, the awardee will be granted the scholarship as a waiver of fees and health insurance costs for Module 3 and 4.
- 3.2 The awardee is required to contribute at least 30 hours as a research assistant in research project (s) and at least 20 hours as a volunteer for the Program.

If an awardee decides to renounce the scholarship for any reason, such as receiving a scholarship from another source or withdrawing from the Program before completing the study, the awardee must return the amount of the scholarship in full to IPSR and compensate the Program for related expenses within six months after renouncing the scholarship.

The Program Administrative Committee has the right to review and select awardees for the Scholarship, and set further criteria as it deems appropriate

Effective from May 2, 2018 until completion of the term of IPSR Director.

Announced on May 2, 2018

(Rossarin Gray, Ph.D.)

Director

Institute for Population and Social Research